

Convocations Next Week Feature Forum, Speaker

An open forum and an address by Paul Knecht, caseworker at the Lutheran Children's Home, will constitute programs for the week.

On Tuesday the forum will be called to order and regulated by moderator Robert Smith, Speech Department. The rules, set up by the Convocations Committee, will be as follows:

—Anyone may advance a question or opinion by simply rising, being recognized by the moderator, giving his name and stating his question or opinion.

—Questions may be directed toward a specific person or addressed to the group generally. In the latter case the moderator will refer the question to someone or ask for answers from the floor.

—Questions or opinions must be of general interest to the Student Body, staff and faculty of the college. The moderator will rule on propriety.

—Questions will not necessarily be interpreted as reflecting the personal opinion of the speaker.

—Anyone may volunteer to answer a question or reply to a statement. Answers, however, should be limited to three minutes. Anyone may also decline comment.

Communications Interchange

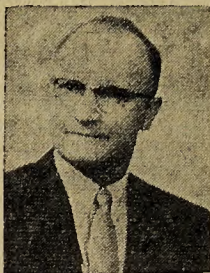

The two-fold purpose of the open forum is to bring to light reasons for present practices in the various fields of campus activity and to provide for an interchange of ideas and opinions between students, faculty and staff.

Sponsored by the Passavant Club, Mr. Knecht will speak Tuesday on the work that is being done with emotionally disturbed children at the Children's Home, a residential treatment center for these children.

Knecht A Social Worker

Paul Knecht received his B.A. with a major in social work from Wartburg in 1954. During his last two years in college he was on the staff of the Home as a house parent.

Knecht has completed two years at Capital Theological Seminary, Columbus, Ohio, and is serving his internship at the Children's Home. In Columbus he served as a child welfare worker on the Franklin County Welfare Board.

Senate Acts On PO Snag

"Should the post office be used for the distribution of announcements?" will be the main question before the Student Senate at its meeting next Monday.

As the situation stands now, the mailmen in the office are being required to hand out both mail and announcements, although they are paid only to distribute mail. Student Body President John Adix announced that the senate will try to work out some plan whereby it will still be possible to send announcements to the students via the post office.

Also on the agenda for Monday's meeting will be a report concerning the Homecoming dance and a report from the Academic Life Committee.

The Campus Chest will also get into full swing Monday night, when Chairman John Solem plans to hold the opening meeting of that committee.

Debaters To Grinnell For Speech Meeting

Wartburg College debaters will participate in a discussion conference to be held at Grinnell College, Grinnell, Friday and Saturday of next week.

The event will begin on Friday afternoon with group discussions on the National Collegiate Debate proposition, "Resolved, That compulsory union membership as a condition of employment should be illegal."

Each group will form a resolution on how to solve the problem. On Friday night one of the resolutions will be chosen to be the topic for extemporaneous speeches during the next morning on the pros and cons of the problem.

According to Robert Smith, adviser, those participating are John Werner, senior, and sophomores Robert Mayer, Eugene Moll and Dean Engbrecht.

Comedy-Drama To Open Another Players Season

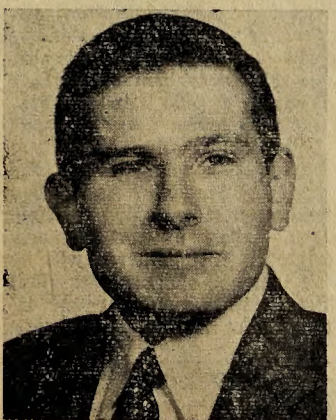

Wartburg Players' fall production, John Patrick's comedy-drama, "The Hasty Heart," will be presented Thursday, Friday and Saturday in the Little Theater at 8 p.m.

This play, by the author of "Curious Savage" and "Tea-house of the August Moon," is the story of a wounded Scotch soldier. It takes place in a hut which is being used as a convalescent ward in a temporary British General Hospital. Here, the Scotch soldier comes to spend the last few weeks of his life.

Independent Scot

Other occupants of the ward know his fate and try to make his last weeks pleasant. The man's extreme independence of spirit nearly wrecks their good intentions. At last, particularly after he falls in love with the nurse, he learns the great lesson of brotherly love.

Playing the leads in the play will be Dick Ferries, acting the part of Lochlen, the Scotch soldier who is innocent of the fact that he has only six weeks to live; Arlo Bice, Yank, who develops a hatred of Lochlen, but who still pities him and eventually wins his friendship; Joan Pape, a veteran actress, playing the part of Margaret, the nurse who brings a bit of sunshine into the lives of these men and who wins Lochlen's love.

Change Made

One change has been made in the cast. The part of the Colonel will be played by Paul Rebelein, a junior from Elroy, Wis.

250 Here For Senior Day

Teacher Day Also Included

An estimated 250 students are expected to attend Senior and Prospective Teachers Day next Saturday. This year the two services will be combined for the first time in a single day's program.

High school students from all over the Midwest will be given an opportunity to investigate college life and career possibilities with qualified counselors. Prospective teachers will be able to meet with leaders in Iowa education.

200 Last Year

Last year's Senior Day, an annual affair held in the fall and spring, drew over 200 high school seniors and juniors in the autumn session.

This year registration will be at 8 a.m. in Knights Gymnasium. Tours of the campus and counseling sessions on teaching and admissions will be held throughout the day.

Speaking to the prospective teachers will be Robert Parker, assistant to the county superintendent and elementary education supervisor of Bremer County. Mrs. Edna Wessel, principal of St. Paul's Christian Day School, will meet with those interested in parochial teaching. Mrs. William Pastuck, grade teacher, will conduct a tour through the Irving School, elementary school in Waverly.

Lunch In Caf

High schoolers will be guests of the college at lunch in the cafeteria and at the Wartburg-Simpson game in the afternoon. This is the last home football game of the season for Wartburg.

Wartburg Players will host the prospective students at their production, "The Hasty Heart," which will be held in the Little Theater at 7:30 p.m.

Schedule

- 8 to 9:30 a.m.—Registration and tours
- 9:30 to 10 a.m.—Welcome program
- 10:05 to 10:40 a.m.—First hour of counseling. Movie and opening remarks for prospective teachers
- 10:45 to 11:25 a.m.—Second hour of counseling. Special session for elementary teachers. Special session for secondary teachers
- 11:30 to 12:10 p.m.—Third hour of counseling. Elementary teachers visit a model school
- 12:10 p.m.—Noon luncheon (College Cafeteria)
- 12:30 to 1:30 p.m.—Campus tours. Admissions counseling sessions
- 1:30 p.m.—Football—Wartburg vs. Simpson
- 4 p.m.—Free time
- 7:30 p.m.—Wartburg Players production

Grades Out

According to the tentative schedule, midsemester grades, will be out Nov. 11 and may be picked up either that day or the two following, according to Dean Earnest Oppermann.

Freshmen may get their grades from their counselors while the dean's office takes care of the upperclassmen.

Choir Heads East

WARTBURG CHOIR members left yesterday afternoon on the start of a two-week tour.

All-American To Annual

Dust off your 1957 Fortress and start taking good care of it!

The Associated Collegiate Press has awarded that edition an All-American rating, the highest honor given to a yearbook.

Wartburg had its book criticized by judges of the ACP's Critical Service. Less than six per cent of those entered last year received this rating. Wartburg was the only college with enrollment from 500 to 1000 to attain All-American.

Rating was based on such things as the plan of the book, division pages and the various departments, such as organizations. All of the divisions scored very good, excellent or superior.

Editor of the prize-winning Fortress was Richard Larson, a 1957 graduate, now attending the University of Illinois. In 1954 the Fortress also rated All-American.

Assisting Larson as associate editors were Larry Everett and Leonard Flachman; as business manager, Carolyn Joseph; photographer, Wayne Krueger; and adviser, Miss Margaret Wolff.

Alums Elect 3 To Board

Three new members of the Board of Directors and a new secretary were elected by the Wartburg College Alumni Association at its meeting last Saturday.

Miss Jean Pfeifer, Hampton, will serve as secretary for two years. Three-year terms on the Board went to the Rev. Durwood Buchheim, Waterloo, representing the Iowa District; the Rev. A. C. Schumacher, Madison, Wis., the Wisconsin District; and the Rev. Erwin Jansen, Deshler, Neb., the Central district.

Further provisions for the Alumni Scholarship Fund were made. Each year as many scholarships of $150 each as can be made from the Fund will be awarded by the Scholarship Committee. The grants will rotate through the three upper classes, beginning with the senior class.

A budget of $6,220 was adopted by the Association. Of this total, $4,000 will be appropriated when an alumni secretary is procured.

Sputnik?

HC BALLOONS
TRAVEL FAR!

Nobody knows for sure when the real Sputnik will fall from its orbit, but the Public Relations Department knows for a fact that two of the Wartburg "Sputniks" have come to earth. The helium-filled balloon that travels farthest after being launched at the Homecoming game will net its owner $5.

Cards received show that Larry Voights' balloon came to rest in Chickasha, Okla., while Bruce Bergquist's was earth-bound in Franklinton, La.

The contest will end in a week or 10 days unless the cards continue to be received regularly, according to Norman Fintel, public relations director.

Tickets Coming

Tickets for the second program in the Artist Series, "Solisti di Zagreb," will go on sale at 9 Monday morning, Nov. 11. They will be on sale Monday and Tuesday in the treasurer's office from 9 a.m.-12 noon and from 1-4 p.m.

Diamonds Seen As 6 Engaged

Diamonds gave Homecoming an added sparkle this year. Sharon Behrens, junior from Cedarburg, Wis., became engaged to Earl Peters, Abrams, Wis. She is an education major, whereas Peters is enrolled at Wartburg Seminary, Dubuque. No definite plans have been made.

Junior Janet Walters, Jamestown, N.D., received a diamond from Leroy Remmers, Beatrice, Neb., also at the Seminary. Immediate plans have not been made.

Freshman Wayne Huehns, Sheboygan, Wis., gave a ring to Janet Meyer, Fond du Lac, Wis. In January he will join her in Wisconsin, where she attends the University. He will continue his training as a mortician.

Open That Mouth And Ask

OK, if you believe in the open mouth policy, here's your chance.

If you happen to be one of those typical Wartburg students who always has a question or a gripe, this is what you've been waiting for.

What?
Convocation Tuesday — an open forum. Yup, at long last here's the chance to get the answers to your questions. Not all answers and not all questions, but certainly some of them.

Elsewhere on the pages of this paper are printed the brief rules of procedure for the event. Keep these in mind when formulating questions.

It might be a good idea to write out the questions in advance. Sometimes a hastily conceived question may not be the most suitable.

Think it over. There's a host of subjects to ask about: the dancing issue, the cut system, how convos are planned, what's with a campus church and others.

Or you might want information on the Artist Series, the athletic program or how student publications are run. The list is close to endless.

The point to be made is simply this: the open forum is designed for you. It is up to each person to think of suitable questions and ask them.

Don't be scared. No retaliatory measure will be taken and nothing will be held against anyone. The purpose of this convocation is to promote better understanding of the college and its policies through communication.

This can be accomplished only through cooperation. If this is effectively done, then the forum will be a success.

If this isn't done, then the entire idea will have to be relegated to the fate of "good in theory, but poor in practice" ideas.

Meanwhile, don't just sit there; say something.

IN SERIES OPENER

Critics Call 'Rivalry' Disappointing; Cite Lack Of Professional Touches

By Bob Loslo and Duane Schroeder

Drama came to the Artist Series stage, and after last Sunday's performance it may never return.

Agnes Moorehead, Raymond Massey and Martin Gabel were applauded enthusiastically as each appeared on the stage in the opening Artist Series number, "The Rivalry." They ended the performance by taking unwarranted curtain calls from a rather lukewarm audience.

Theatergoers, who were expecting a magnificent performance, had to be satisfied with a "pretty good" professional show.

Miss Moorehead, Academy Award nominee, got the show off on the wrong foot by delivering her lines too rapidly. Miss Moorehead, who held the spotlight only about a fourth of the time, tried to counteract the situation by constant attempts at scene-stealing. Straightening her wig and waving her fan, Miss Moorehead distracted the audience while Lincoln was delivering his speeches.

Massey, handicapped by a high temperature, turned in a good, though not magnificent, performance. Gabel, the least known of the trio, was the only bright spot in the production. He reflected the robust character of Stephen A. Douglas with power and warmth.

Even if the performance had been magnificent, the public address system was effective only to the 15th row. Bored listeners soon found themselves counting the stars in the American flag rather than paying attention to Lincoln and Douglas.

"RIVALRY" CAST members and company officials talk over their performance while preparing to leave Waverly.

Another disturbing factor was the triple shadow on the curtain due to the inferior lighting system. The closer the performers came to the apron of the stage, the chalkier their faces became. Light changes lacked any artistic attempt at fading in and out, but were too abrupt.

Lincoln and Douglas were the only authors who showed any talent in the play. Norman Corwin has put a good first draft of a play into production.

Admittedly, it was a difficult play to present on the stage, but Corwin missed several good opportunities to lighten the script with dialogue between the characters. Instead Moorehead delivered long soliloquies, thus making the play extremely mechanical.

It probably would have made a good radio drama.

WAVERLY LAUNDRY

by Bob Loslo

Last week I wrote an article for which I am not apologizing. But after all the late hours, last-minute changes and hectic dress rehearsals, I guess Kastle Kapers was worth it, after all. No matter how good or how bad the show may have been, it gives you a good feeling to sit back and know it's all over.

My especial thanks goes to Buzz Klatt and Jim Rutenber, who took over the night before the performance when regular stage manager, Bruce Friedrich, became ill.

Then too, the Kapers this year will have to be called a Vollmer House production. In addition to having three-fourths of the house in the cast, the Vollmerians wrote the show, built the sets, helped in makeup and tore down the set after the show.

Hoo hah, gang. Another open forum convo will be held next week. You remember — that was the convo that instigated the famous battle cry, "What did happen to Harold Kurtz?" In order to make this session less like a wake, a few babbling idiots at the Pub House have devised a list of questions to ask:

"Where can I get my Golden Crumbles?"

"Who won the World Series?"

"Does anybody have a three-cent stamp?"

"Will the Homecoming decorations come down in time to put up Christmas decorations?"

"Will the Student Body President straighten the legs on the Knight after the Parade this year?"

"Who will Governor Faubus pick as a running mate?"

"Who is Jayne Mansfield?"

Larry Stumme seems to be trying to capitalize on Jim Heddens' fame by getting a Yul Brynner haircut. Of course, it may have been because half of third floor Grossmann was holding him down at the time.

Having midsemester test week right after Homecoming is like studying Einstein's Theory of Relativity after running a four-minute mile.

Now that we have all (?) survived test week, we can breathe a sigh of relief—and start it all over again! This second half of the semester is a good time to join in the organizational fun on campus. (The floats are all made now.)

Freshmen in particular are invited. You should know more by now what things you can handle. Besides, a little relaxation doesn't hurt anyone or anything, including grade points!

First on the agenda for the week is APG initiation on Sunday. Bob Loslo, senior, will be trying for membership in this journalism fraternity. That is at 6:30 p.m. at Miss Wolff's home. And—"good luck, Bob!"

Monday evening finds the Business Students Association holding its monthly meeting. Jack Bailey of the Waverly Chamber of Commerce will be the featured speaker. President Tow Brower says, "Anyone interested in the field of business, plan to attend, and particularly you members of the freshman class. We would like to see more of you in our organization." That's at 7 p.m. in Fuchs Lounge.

Attention, badminton and ping-pong players—girls, that is. WAA is holding tournaments Wednesday night at 7 p.m. Note the 7 p.m. The president informs me that the latecomers have been numerous. So—7 p.m. in Knights Gym.

Curtain rises at 8 in the Little Theater for the first production of the year Thursday, Friday and Saturday. Veterans Joan Pape and Bob Kroeger will be on the boards with several newcomers. Guess I should tell you that the play is "The Hasty Heart" by John Patrick. Your activity tickets will admit you. See you all at the opening.

"Dunk the Dutchmen" is the slogan. The Knights meet Central today at 1:30 p.m.

So much from this typewriter for this week.

Knights Looking For Win Number Six

Squad Goes To Central

Wartburg Knights are hoping to make history at Central this afternoon.

Coach Norm Johansen's grid-ders will be aiming for their sixth win of the season in today's 1:30 affair at Pella. The best mark that a Knight team has been able to muster in the past was five wins in one cam-paign.

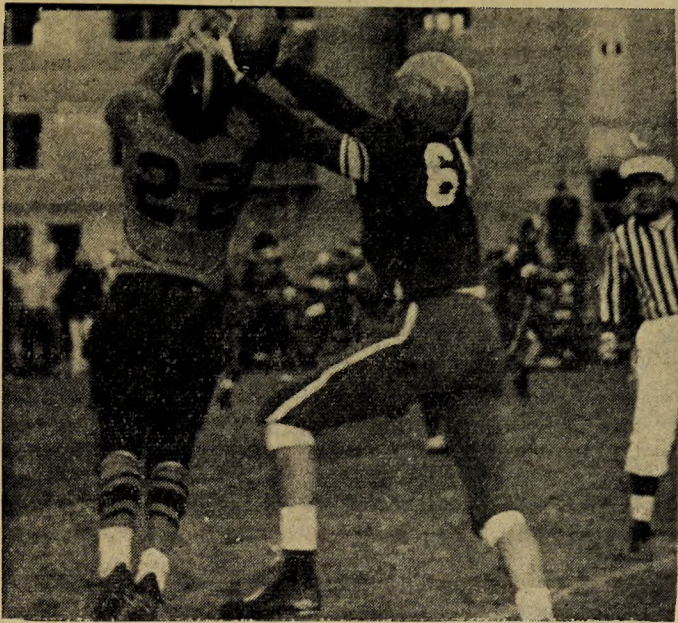

Knights will find the going rough, however, as the Dutch-men will be observing their lone '57 Homecoming activity. School officials at Central cur-tailed all other Homecoming functions except the football contest because of the flu out-break the week before.

Dutchman coach, Babe Ty-selling, was forced to postpone last Saturday's Iowa Conference contest at Buena Vista because of the flu. The Central crew have all recovered from the bug's bite and with the week of rest will be more than set for the Knight invasion this after-noon.

Central, last year's champ, has a 1-3 league record thus far, but has dropped all three of the tilts to conference first division teams. The Knights are now 4-1 in loop play and stand 5-1 for the season.

Wartburg will be in near-perfect physical condition to-day. Johansen's only ailing players at present are fullback Larry Raper, hobbled with a bad knee, and center Leon Knitt, still limping on a sprained ankle. Both may be ready for limited duty against the Dutch-men.

Tom Van Wyngarten, stocky frosh halfback from Manson, took over the number two spot in rushing and the second po-sition on the team in total of-fense. Larry Raper leads in both departments with 367 yards contributed entirely on the ground in five contests.

RALPH WOLKEN, Wartburg halfback, and Roger Allen, Dubuque end, scramble for a pass in last week's Homecoming tilt. Wolken successfully knocked down the Dubuque pass.

13-0 Victory For Jo-men

By Charles Maahs

Knights made Dubuque their fourth conference victim and smashed a two-year Homecom-ing jinx by scoring twice in the first half, and defending bril-liantly Dubuque's sputtering single-wing offense. Wartburg's attack was highlighted with some flashy runs, with Tommy Van Wyngarten's electrifying 78-yard jaunt the most spec-tacular.

Wartburg received the open-ing kickoff and with Dave Jen-sen and Chuck Nichols carry-ing, went 57 yards to the Du-buque five before they were stopped. Dubuque's third down punt traveled an anemic 11 yards, and the Knights had possession on Dubuque's 16-yard line. Fullback Gary Queck plunged to the five-yard line for a first down.

Then Chuck Nichols hit end Les Huth in the end zone with an aerial for the Knights' first score. Krominga's try for the extra point was wide, and the Knights were ahead 6-0.

With three minutes left in the half, Dave Jensen ran 12 yards around left end to set up the most thrilling play of the after-noon.

Taking a handoff from quar-terback Jack McClelland, half-back Tom Van Wyngarten raced over right tackle, re-versed his field and, with a key block, ran 78 yards for the touchdown. Krominga of the big toe converted, and the Knights had a 13-0 halftime lead.

During the second half, Coach Johansen's team gave a rugged and grisly example of defense. Dubuque's inanimate attack was held to a -3 yards gained on the ground for the game. Of-fensively, neither team could move, with the cold air con-tributing to numerous fumbles.

PICKING UP SPLINTERS

By Wilbur Flachman

Get ready to change the record books. The 1957 Knights are prepared to grab their sixth win of the season at Central today, and erase the mark of five victories managed by sev-eral Knight teams of old. The last squad to post five triumphs was the 1954 Iowa Conference (Northern Half) champs.

Wartburg Band was all set to march at Pella today in pre-game ceremonies. Director Ern-est Hagen's per-formers were to make the trip as guests of the Wartburg Athletic De-partment. How-ever, the flu bug forced can-cellation of all Dutch activities except the game, so the Black and Orange highsteppers will save their tunes a couple of weeks for the Luther contest.

In checking over the charts, statisticians found an error in last Saturday's post-game fig-ures. The Knights actually held Dubuque to a net total of minus three yards. This mark should be another history-making ef-fort turned in by the '57 Jomen.

Speaking of all-time greats on the Knight gridiron, one of the top Wartburg performers of the past decade is carving quite a niche in service annals. Wen-dell Liemohn, three times a ohoice on the All-Iowa Confer-ence team, was named "most outstanding player," of the Navy Red Feathers Bowl game last week.

"Wendy," a '56 grad, led his Norfolk Tars to a 6-0 upset vic-tory over Navy Amphibious. The Amphibious crew was rated number two in service football. Following the game, Liemohn was awarded the Navy Guide trophy for his outstand-ing contribution to the service pigskin sport. He is the son of Dr. Edwin Liemohn, head of the Wartburg Music Department.

Oppie Rolls High Series

At the Bowl Inn this week it was Earnest Oppermann having both high game and series with 222 and 571, respectively. Op-permann's 571 took over honors of high game of the season, formerly held by David Jensen, who has a 560.

It is urged that all people in On the gridiron this week it was Cotta over Larson-Zeta 46-7, and Cotta over Grossmann II 23-0. In a make-up game it was Larson-Zeta slipping past Grossmann II 12-7.

In the IM football league Cotta House holds an undisputed first place.

In the tennis tourney all re-sults will have to be turned in by Tuesday. After that, draw-ings will be made for forfeits.

Students, Faculty Have Work Printed; Poems Appear In Iowa Poetry Books

Two brochures of poetry which came off the presses in the past few weeks have contained poems by Wartburg students and faculty members.

The 1956-57 edition of the Iowa Poetry Day Association publication contains poems by Robert Weishoff, a 1957 graduate, and Don Metzger, senior, both of whom placed in the 1956 poetry contest. Janaan Skibbe, sophomore, Marion Hoelz, sophomore, and Sharon Kronberg, former Wartburg student, took first three places in last year's contest.

Receiving honorable mention in the same contest and with poems published are Ronald Hays, senior; Oliver Dewald, 1957 graduate; Nancy Crosman, sophomore; Roger Kampstra, sophomore; and Paul Hesterberg, 1957 graduate. In both adult sections Miss Margaret Wolff, English and Journalism Departments, has poems published.

Works by Miss Wolff and Dr. Edwin Sandberg, English Department, will be found in the 1957 edition of Lyrical Iowa, published by the Iowa Poetry Association. In the college section, William Thalacker, 1957 graduate, and Hesterberg each received honorable mention in the contest and have poems printed.

The Rev. Walter Tillmanns, head of the German Department, has an article, "Luther the Teenager," in the current issue of "One" magazine.

Harold Kurtz, senior, has recently sold two articles, a short story and a sketch to "Lutheran Youth" and "Our Young People." Duane Schroeder, senior, recently received word that "Lutheran Youth" had purchased his article, "Bahai: The World's Largest Merger."

Study Directory Will Be Available

The Advancement and Placement Institute recently announced the publication of its first annual "World-Wide Graduate Award Directory."

Answering the needs of educators, the directory includes information concerning awards used for furthering education beyond the bachelor's degree. The amount of the stipends, the number available and where and the specific conditions required for each is included.

Copies may be examined at graduate schools, university placement or deans' offices, public and college libraries, or they may be ordered from The Institute, Box 99E, Greenpoint Station, Brooklyn 22, N. Y., for $2 a copy.

College Receives 2 Oil Paintings

Two paintings, worth approximately a thousand dollars each, were given to Wartburg College by Eve Drewelow, Boulder, Colo., recently. "Obsidian," an imaginary landscape, and "Autumn in Aspen," a landscape, will be hung permanently on the campus.

The artist, originally from New Hampton, has exhibited throughout the country.

Arrives From Africa

ROBERT HIERONYMUS, sophomore, teaches newcomer Naaman Laiser, Tanganyika, the facts of college life. Naaman who arrived Sunday begins classes next semester.

Radio Station Buys New Tape Recorder

A new Ekotape tape recorder was purchased recently by KWAR-FM, college radio station. Costing $270, the recorder is a hi-fi machine that can take up to three hours of programming on one tape.

It will be used mainly to develop KWAR's news service. With it, it is possible to 'edit' tape and also to reproduce a series of tapes.

Wartburg students first heard it in operation last Friday it was used for all the sound effects in the Kastle Kapers. The machine will also be used by the Speech Department.

Course Added

Wartburg English majors and minors planning to teach will be required to take a new course, English Grammar, being offered for two credit hours next semester, as announced by the English Department.

English 302 will not be a writing course, but will strictly emphasize grammar in order to give the student sufficient mastery to teach it effectively.

Alumni Have Coffee

An alumni coffee hour will be held in connection with the Iowa State Education Association convention in Des Moines Friday. The gathering will take place in the Hotel Savery from 3 to 5 p.m.

Super Sub!

It's been said that the atomic submarine "Nautilus" stays submerged so long that it only surfaces to let the crew re-enlist. Perhaps for this reason, the Navy has taken valuable space aboard the "Nautilus" for the only soft-drink vending machine in the entire submarine fleet.

Naturally (or you wouldn't hear about it from us) it's a Coca-Cola machine. And not unexpectedly, re-enlistments are quite respectable.

Rugged lot, those submariners. Great drink, Coke!
